Nothing can take the place of The Literary Digest

The Literary Digest is alone in its field. There is no other publication just like it. Every week The Digest's editors present news and opinion selected from 5,000 newspapers and periodicals of every land and language.

The Literary Digest is a necessity, not a luxury. It is more entertaining than many magazines although it is not primarily a magazine of entertainment. It appeals equally to high-brows and low-brows, but it is appreciated most by those who know most.

It is a necessary magazine in a peculiar and unusual sense. It caters to one trait we all have—interest in the news—curiosity about what is happening in the world.

For seven years we have been picking our readers from the readers of newspapers by advertising in the newspapers that reach the better and more intelligent part of the community.

The Digest appeals to people who count, in every field of endeavor—in politics, in the professions; in business, in society. All the different tastes, all the different interests, have one taste, one interest, in common. They want to know what happened, and what people thought about it—the news and public opinion.

The Digest is not a magazine which tells how to succeed. It is a magazine one grows to as one does succeed.

The bigger one's job, the wider one's influence, the more important one's decisions, the more necessary becomes some source of authentic, unbiased news of what the world thinks.

That need is supplied by The Literary Digest.

73% of The Digest's readers are classified as executives. This statement is based upon an investigation of The Digest circulation to learn what its readers do for a living and how high up they have got in their respective jobs. We shall be glad to prepare upon request a chart showing just how the information we have about The Digest may be applied to your own advertising. The Literary Digest, 354 Fourth Avenue, New York.

ARMY OFFICERS AT GUARD CAMP

Men Put Through Paces for Their Guests

Most Strenuous Day of This Week's Work

Wrestling and Boxing Bouts During Evening

BY MAJ. J. P. McQUAIDE

Yesterday was probably the most strenuous day at Fort MacArthur since the component parts of the Coast Artillery Battalion from San Francisco, San Diego, Long Beach and Los Angeles, went into camp here a week ago. No doubt the presence of two distinguished officers of the Regular Army had much to do with stimulating the officers and men to do their best. Gen. Ira A. Haynes, U.S.A., and Col. Austin Hamilton, U.S.A., famed artillerymen, arrived in camp early in the forenoon.

Gen. Haynes, who is in charge of all the Coast defenses on the Pacific, came down from San Francisco. Interested like all Regular Army officers in the work and efficiency of the National Guard, the general came down to see for himself. Col. Hamilton was equally interested and marked closely everything about the camp of the guardsmen.

MEN ARE DRILLED

The men were exercised in both the mortar and gun batteries, sub-caliber fire was indulged in, and the men acquitted themselves surprisingly well under the scrutiny of the visitors.

It was an interesting day in the camp, and it was followed by an interesting night. At 7 o'clock the outdoor sports began with a wrestling bout between Privates Baker and Emory of the Four Hundred and Fifty-ninth Company of San Francisco. Following this there were three boxing bouts. The first was between Attila of the Four Hundred and Sixty-first Company of San Francisco and McHaley of the Four Hundred and Sixty-ninth Company of Los Angeles. The second bout was between Chaplain of the Four Hundred and Sixty-ninth Company and Fuller of the Four Hundred and Sixty-ninth. The wind-up was one between Constantino of the Four Hundred and Sixty-first and Harper of the Four Hundred and Sixty-third. Bob B. Lunde of Headquarters Company refereed all the contests.

OFFICERS IN CONTEST

An interesting volley-ball contest was waged between two teams from among the officers. The teams were comprised of six members. One was captained by Maj. Gastil of San Diego and the other by Maj. Hardy of San Francisco. Maj. Hardy's team had Maj. Cook, U.S.A.; Capt. Doney, U.S.A.; Capt. Farley, Lieut. Young, Lieut. Shaver and Capt. Miller. The other team had Capt. Barriger, Capt. Carrington, Capt. Greenbaum, Capt. Moherall, Lieut. Butterfield and Lieut. Chester. The San Diego aggregation won two sets out of three played.

The rating of all who took part in the physical tests is being perfected. Only the sprinting events were finished. Early in the coming week the broad jump, high jump and bar vaulting events will be gone through, and before the camp breaks all the records will be sent to the War Department at Washington. The B. B. Barker Concert Company of Los Angeles gave an entertainment in the big tent last night.

Three-Year-Old Tries to Jump Truck and Dies

Little Charlie Peterson, 3 years of age, was playing in front of his home at 1814 West Washington street, yesterday afternoon. He saw some larger boys jump on the rear of a passing automobile and decided to try the sensation of this attractive experience.

His opportunity came when a large truck with a trailer came down the street. The child ran out into the street, tried to catch hold of the trailer and slipped under the wheels. He was run over and instantly killed. Pedestrians who saw the incident from a distance said that the truck driver did not know that the boy had been run over, and proceeded on his way. Police last night were trying to find him.

El Segundo

OFFERS THE GREATEST POTENTIAL INVESTMENT POSSIBILITIES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TODAY. ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS HAS BEEN INVESTED IN EL SEGUNDO LOTS, HALF AND THREE-QUARTER ACRE TRACTS DURING THE PAST TWO WEEKS BY FAR-SIGHTED INVESTORS WHO FORESEE THE COMING DEVELOPMENT IN EL SEGUNDO AND BEFORE WE HAVE BEEN ABLE TO OPEN OUR OFFICES AND MAKE OUR PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT.

El Segundo is destined to become a city of many thousands. It will be a city of wealth, big real estate transactions, of safe and certain profits to those who invest now.

Actual Need Gave El Segundo This Certain and Safe Stimulus for Phenomenal Growth

There are big things happening in El Segundo. It is already a fair sized city with well paved streets lined with attractive homes, schools, churches, business blocks. Almost three thousand people live in El Segundo. The Great Standard Oil Refinery alone employs over eighteen hundred people. J. D. D. Gladding, Vice-President El Segundo First National Bank, states there is an immediate demand for over two hundred homes to house the present employees of this plant who live elsewhere because of lack of housing facilities. Income property pays a handsome profit in El Segundo.

This Is Your Opportunity, Mr. Builder, and You, Mr. Investor

Oil may be discovered in El Segundo. The Pan-American Oil Company has built a rig just at the edge of the town. Other large companies are leasing property in and about El Segundo. Prominent geologists say that El Segundo will be the next great oil field. If oil is discovered, and indications are that it will be, values will immediately increase to unsurpassed levels. Our opening prices are based on conservative homesite and business valuations which even without oil will double in value within the coming year with the natural development of the city growing to meet requirements of the Twenty-three Million Dollar Standard Oil Refinery already established. But what will values go to if the Pan-American Oil Company brings in a well on the hills of El Segundo?

We are offering the balance of the original townsite, consisting of over 200 acres, distributed throughout the present city. Improvements are in and the value of your property is already enhanced by surrounding dwellings and business establishments.

BEACH CITY PLANS EDIFICE

Eastern Capital to Erect $1,500,000 Apartment-house and Hotel at Santa Monica

Proof that eastern capital is being expended in Southern California for new projects is shown by the fact that a group of New York capitalists has announced an intention to erect a pretentious apartment and hotel in Santa Monica at a cost of $1,500,000.

Official announcement of the plans was made yesterday by A. C. Blumenthal and associates, who are concluding negotiations with the syndicate.

FACES OCEAN

Property on the northeast corner of Santa Monica Boulevard and Ocean avenue overlooking the Palisades and facing the ocean, has been selected as the site for the edifice. The lot has a frontage of 100 feet on the boulevard and 150 feet on the avenue and is located on the main business thoroughfare of the beach city and affords an excellent view of the ocean and immediate vicinity.

The structure will be twelve stories in height, class-A construction, fireproof and will contain approximately 350 rooms elaborately finished in expensive furnishings and appointments. The apartments will range in size from one to six rooms each, provided with regular hotel service and equipped with the latest type of kitchenette conveniences.

PREPARE PLANS

Architects will prepare drawings immediately and will complete them within ninety days, when actual building operations will be begun. Special attention will be given in the plan for restaurants, hairdressing salons, and many other appointments. The new project will be the fourth structure of its kind to be built under the supervision of the Blumenthal interests.

Mr. Blumenthal also stated that he had purchased six valuable

Nancy Astor Twits Tories on Dry Stand

(BY RADIO AND TELETYPE DISPATCH)

LONDON, July 13.—Lady Astor's bill prohibiting the selling of liquor to any one under 18 years of age passed its third reading in the House of Commons this afternoon after a few old Tories and advocates of the drink trade tried to talk it out.

The leader of the filibuster was Sir Frederick Sanbury, a supertory. During his speech the Labor members, who favored the bill, gave an opportunity for wasting time by interjections and Lady Astor shook her fist across the floor, telling them not to help the opposition.

When Sir Frederick finished she declared that she despised of converting him, for he had reached the age when nothing but rebirth would do him any good.

PEANUT GROWERS SIGN MANY ACRES

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

ATLANTA (Ga.) July 13.—Nearly 100,000 acres of peanuts have been signed up for co-operative marketing in South Georgia counties as a result of a drive for members by the Georgia Peanut Growers Co-operative Association. These will be pooled and graded and put on the market under the most approved methods of marketing, and farmers in the association are expecting to make more out of this year's peanut crop than ever before.

Arrest Three as Navy Theft Ring Plotters

What is believed to have been a scheme to dispose of large quantities of material at Los Angeles Harbor naval base was checked yesterday by the arrest of three men. Walter Brooks and O. L. Martin were arrested by Detective Lieutenants Allen and Graf, and E. E. Reeder, chief petty officer on the submarine S-3, was arrested at Mare Island, San Francisco.

Detectives said that ten 100-foot lengths of ninety-one-strand copper wire already had been sold to the value of $4000, and that two 1500-pound propellers, taken from German submarines, had been removed for sale.

The investigation, which has been under way for several weeks, is said to have implicated several petty officers and other employees at the naval base. More arrests are expected.

FRUIT WORKERS ARE PLENTIFUL

Prospects Good for Handling Valley Crop

More Than 3000 Reply to Advertisements

American Families Are Most in Demand

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
FRESNO, July 13.—Plenty of workers to handle the fruit crops of the San Joaquin Valley will be in the vineyards and orchards this year, according to prospects outlined yesterday by Alben E. Wray, manager of the Valley Fruit Growers' Association. This organization performs the function of assuring labor for the harvest.

More than 3000 replies, said Wray, have been received as a result of advertising for workers in sixteen newspapers. These letters represent, he estimated, about 50 per cent more prospective fruit handlers than went in similar replies last year.

The association has advertised especially for American families to work in the fruit. Wray said the answers indicate a very large proportion of the tollers this summer and fall will be of this class. Especially elaborate preparations have been made in the Fresno district for handling the labor supply. Using the Valley Fruit Growers' association as a central distributing agency, the Chamber of Commerce and the Farm Bureau Center of that community have taken charge of the arrangements.

Each grower who needs help has been registered. The record shows how many people he needs, the kind of work to be done, and other details, including the kind of housing the grower can provide for the workers.

CHARGES HE WAS BETRAYED

Declaring he was betrayed by a man to whom he had been a benefactor, Salvatore Martorano, 66 years of age, yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court here to recover title to a third interest in a 640-acre ranch near Clovis. The interest is valued at about $10,000.

On Aug. 1, 1929, Martorano, he says, was the owner of this interest, but was ill and unable to work. He was, moreover, threatened with suit on a note which he owed to the man to whom he was to be sold.

Then, he says, Dick Pavaglioni, whom he had known for some years, offered to pay off the note and a mortgage and care for the ranch and for Martorano during the remainder of his life, if given a clear deed to the place. The deed was given, says the complaint, and Pavaglioni immediately moved on the ranch with his wife, Marie.

Thereupon, says Martorano, Pavaglioni failed to pay the note and the mortgage, and Martorano, over, says the old man, he lived for five months on the ranch he had given away, but was made to work, to buy and prepare his own food and to do the housework.

It was in the midst of the wedding ceremony. Gene Cougar, deputy constable, and Dorothy Creger, court clerk, were the witnesses. Said Justice Newell to the groom, "Have you a ring?"

GOLDEN WEDDING OBSERVED Couple Celebrate Fifty Years Together

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Williams

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
REDLANDS, July 13.—Fifty years ago in the city of Bridgeport, Ct. Rev. J. H. Williams and Miss Annie F. Day, daughter of Capt. Samuel Day, were married. The anniversary of that wedding was celebrated quietly at their home on Alvarado street the 4th inst. in the city where they have spent thirty years of that wedded life.

Dr. Williams was for twenty years the pastor of the First Congregational Church in Redlands and although he was in the active ministry for forty years he held but three pastorates in that time, a tribute to the love and esteem in which he and Mrs. Williams were held wherever they served.

They were married soon after he graduated from the Andover seminary. He entered the active ministry immediately, having been called as pastor to the Congregational Church at Marblehead, Mass., one of the oldest churches in New England. It was then 200 years old and he was 24 years old. Dr. and Mrs. Williams served there for ten years, for she has been his active helpmate in all his pastorates. At the end of ten years there he received a call to the Clyde Congregational Church in Kansas City and served there ten years.

Dr. Williams resigned his active pastorate in 1913 and has been pastor-emeritus of the church since then. In the past ten years he has supplied eight churches including the Central Union Church in Honolulu and the church at Claremont.

Three of the four children, Miss Helen Williams of Oxnard, Prof. Robert Williams of Pomona College and Mrs. Grace Bryan, the other daughter, lives in Honolulu and could not be here for the celebration. Many of the members of the congregation called at the home and extended their best wishes.

SEEK BLIND DEATH WITNESS

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
SAN BERNARDINO, July 13.—Blinded by a bullet as he slept in a bootlegger's camp on the desert last November, James Buckley, a wanderer, is sought by Sheriff Shay as a witness in the murder trial of "Big Tom" Riley, accused slayer of T. F. McCabe, slayer of Buckley.

Although totally blind and unable to identify Riley, Glen Wells or John Duffy, all jointly indicted on the murder charge, Buckley's story of incidents leading up to the murder and his being shot through the temple may send the accused men to the gallows, as it will link the State's chain of evidence, Sheriff Shay said today.

In the General Hospital here for months, Buckley was discharged to go about his wanderings months ago, when it appeared that the mystery of the desert murder was unsolvable. But with the arrest of Riley's gang at Yuba City three weeks ago, it appears that the law will inflict its penalty.

With T. F. Moore and Thomas McCabe, Buckley accepted the hospitality of Riley's gang, identified as ram-runners, in a camp near the desert last November. The whiskey was passed by Riley, McCabe drank until he became insensible. In a dispute some time during the night Riley said to have shot Moore through the

GRAUMAN GIVES OPTIONS ON THEATERS TO PARAMOUNT

Owner of Notable Downtown Houses to Sell Them and Build Others in Near-by Cities

Contracts have been signed and preliminary payments, in the form of option money, have been made by the Paramount Pictures Corporation for the entire downtown Grauman motion-picture theater interests. The Metropolitan, Grauman's Million Dollar Theater at Third street and Broadway, and the Rialto on South Broadway are the houses involved.

SUSPECT IN DEATH CASE IS ARRESTED

Plea of Mexican for Aid in Winning Hand of Girl Results in Capture

The wheels set in motion by Catalino Ramirez when he appeared at the police station yesterday afternoon led to his arrest on a charge of suspicion of murder.

The suspect is accused of slaying Mike Hernandez, whose mutilated body was found lying in the Los Angeles River bed, 300 feet from the end of East Leroy street, on the night of the 6th inst.

Unrequited love, jealousy and then a final determination to put his rival out of the way form the elements in the love affair and tragedy which culminated in the death of Hernandez and the arrest of Ramirez, according to police.

The girl about whom the entire affair revolved is Delina Granados of 112 Lord street, a Spanish beauty, 19 years of age, police say. A picture of Hernandez, whom she was to marry, and which was in her possession, led to the clearing up of the mystery, arresting officers assert.

The body of Hernandez with the throat slashed more than a foot and a half, and the still to which he had been killed, was found driven into his head. A thorough investigation followed but police were unable to find a single clue to the murderer's identity.

Miss Granados told the authorities that Ramirez had appeared at her home a few days ago and told her and her parents that Hernandez was dead and his body was lying in the Los Angeles River bed. He urged her, she said, to marry him as he had the license and as Hernandez would never return.

This caused police to institute a search for Ramirez and arrest him.

DOPE SUSPECT SHOT DOWN

Agent Mortally Wounds Antonio Ramirez After Latter Fires at Brother Officer

Shooting in defense of a fellow-detective, Federal Narcotic Agent Despain sent a bullet yesterday through the stomach of Antonio Ramirez, believed to be a dope peddler, and wounded him probably mortally.

A general fight followed, in which two other Mexicans were captured. Several hundred dollars' worth of morphine and cocaine was found on the trio, the officers declare. It was said Ramirez fired at Agent W. R. Wood. The shooting took place on Commercial street, between Alameda and Los Angeles streets.

The two wounded prisoners described themselves as Joe Ramirez, brother of the wounded man, and Roy Duarte, and denied knowledge at first of who the wounded man was. The latter was taken to Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Norman Doorn declared he probably would die. He was unconscious. Joe Ramirez and Duarte were booked on charges of violating the Harrison law, and the same charge was placed against the wounded man on the hospital records.

The two agents, according to

FLAMES PERIL ENTIRE BLOCK

Three Plants, Two Homes and Garages Destroyed

Sixteenth-Street Fire Loss More Than $250,000

Conflagration is Started by Small Boys at Play

Three manufacturing plants, two homes and several garages were destroyed in a fire that broke out at 6:30 p.m. yesterday at Sixteenth and Long Beach streets. The damage is estimated to be in excess of $250,000. Small boys burning rubbish started the blaze.

The plants destroyed were the Flagg Scenic, W. P. Stevens Ice Machinery Company, 1834 Long Beach avenue, and the Pratt & Warner Manufacturing Company, 1635 Stanton avenue.

"We are going to rebuild at once," said Frank Simpson, assistant manager of the Flagg Scenic Company. "Our loss is about $100,000 in the destruction of the Flagg plant. We had about $10,000 worth unfinished in the building. One-third of our losses was covered by insurance."

James Pantage, night watchman, discovered two boys playing about a bonfire in the rear of the Flagg plant, which had closed for the day. The fire soon spread to the plant, which was filled with inflammable materials used in making scenery.

Eight engines and two trucks responded when the fourth alarm was turned in. The entire block was threatened, as wooden buildings surrounded the factories. The Stevens plant and the Pratt & Warner factory caught fire in rapid succession. Several explosions occurred in the scene, and burning timbers were thrown high in the air. Blazing embers fell on adjoining buildings.

FURNITURE PILED UP

Families residing in small frame houses close by started a frantic endeavor to save their household goods. The yard of the Stanton-street school and the lawns of homes for more than a block were soon covered with furniture, bedding and carpets. Two goats rescued from a backyard were tied to a piano.

As the flames continued to spread the Pacific Novelty Postcard Company, Phoenix Planning Mill and the Brombacher Iron Works were threatened. The front wall of the scenic company building fell with a crash and carried with it a long section of electric light wires, throwing houses of the neighborhood into darkness. Telephone service of the district was also crippled. Thousands of persons, attracted by the glaring sky,

WIDOW OF OESTERREICH IS ARRAIGNED AS SLAYER

Preliminary Hearing Has Been Set for the 25th Inst.; Story of Hidden Weapon Told

A complaint charging murder was issued last yesterday afternoon against Mrs. Wilburga Oesterreich, whose wealthy husband was slain last August in his home at 858 North Andrews Boulevard. Her preliminary hearing was set for the 25th inst. A few minutes later she was arraigned in Justice Court on the murder charge, to which she attentively listened with a smile on her lips.

While the bobbed-haired widow of Fred Oesterreich was facing the crowded Justice Court, J. E. Farber, a Christian Science practitioner, was explaining his reason for destroying and hiding an automatic pistol which had been given to him a day or two after the murder of the wealthy manufacturer.

A portion of Farber's story had been told, but his name had been withheld by the police. It was obtained from other than police sources and when confronted by reporters he admitted his identity and offered his explanation for his act.

The practitioner said that he and Mrs. Farber had been friends of the Oesterreich family for ten years. Mrs. Oesterreich and Mrs. Farber were intimate friends.

"Several weeks before Mr. Oesterreich told us her house had been visited by burglars. She said she would shoot any burglar if she ever caught them in her home."

TOLD OF WEAPON

"You would not actually shoot a burglar," Mrs. Oesterreich replied. "She said she certainly would, that she had a pistol with which to do it. From that conversation I was assured she had a weapon in the house. When Mr. Oesterreich was murdered, I hurried over to the house but the body had been removed. That is all I know about the tragedy itself."

"A day or two later, Mrs. Farber and I were visiting Mrs. Oesterreich. She said she had a pistol, which she thought should be removed from the house. She explained that she feared suspicion of the crime would descend upon her if it was to be found by the police in their investigation."

"Mrs. Farber said she had no idea that anyone in the Oesterreich family was suspected and we agreed to take the weapon away. We then—and we do yet—believed that Mrs. Oesterreich was absolutely innocent of any wrong."

"The pistol was wrapped in a handkerchief. After having received it, I did not know what to do. I wanted to give it back to Mrs. Oesterreich. But Mrs. Farber is so closely attached to Mrs. Oesterreich that I could not do so."

"No, we will not return it," said Mrs. Farber. "We must destroy it. We must throw it away!" I threw the thing into the woodshed. That is the last I saw of it. Mrs. Farber took it and threw it away some place."

ADMITTS MISTAKE

"I admit now that we made a serious mistake. I should have instructed Mrs. Oesterreich to give

RED SPEAKER AT HARBOR NABBED

Charge Suspicion of Criminal Syndicalism

Officer's Life Threatened in Letters

Strike of Protest Proves to be Failure

A squad of police from Los Angeles, headed by Capt. Plumber of the harbor police, bore down upon the I.W.W. meeting at Liberty Hill last night, and arrested one of the speakers. He was charged with suspicion of criminal syndicalism. About 2000 men, women and children from the harbor district gathered at the meeting, which rapidly turned into a spirited demonstration of judges and jury, the particular judge and jury who convicted twenty-seven members of the I.W.W. a few days ago, of newspapers and the capitalist system.

SPEAKER ARRESTED

The speaker arrested was E. F. Moffet, who said he was a contractor. Moffet also told the crowd he was a shorthand reporter, and made a transcript of the recent Wobly trial, upon which he based his remarks.

George Chalmers Richmond, a former Episcopal clergyman, who spoke at a previous meeting, was advertised to speak last night, but failed to appear.

Just before the meeting, two arrested I.W.W. organizers were removed from the tanker Alden Anderson of the Associated Oil Company, which arrived in this port from Fall River, Mass. yesterday, and jailed. The crew of the tanker attempted to leave the ship during the day. Those arrested were Otto Berg, Norwegian seaman, and C. V. Saffron, also a seaman. The crew told police they went ashore Thursday night, and were compelled to pay $3.50 each for Wobly cards. They turned in the cards, and agreed to resume work.

OFFICER THREATENED

Jack Diamond of the harbor police, known as the Wobly "Nemesis," reported yesterday that he had received anonymous notes threatening him with death, if he did not stop his work as a police officer by professed members of the I.W.W.

Ramon Madrid, a Mexican labor leader at the harbor, was arrested yesterday afternoon at Fourth and Beacon streets. He carried an I.W.W. card. Police said he is being held for deportation.

Telegrams were read at last night's meeting, purporting to have a surplus of $20,000 for the strike of marine workers of the I.W.W. Three thousand longshoremen were at work on the wharves and more than sixty ships in port, with a surplus of $20,000 awaiting jobs at the Marine Service Bureau.

The Wobblies have altogether lost their grip on the harbor. It was proved yesterday, when Red speakers, themselves, virtually admitted this fact at a forum meeting called on Liberty Hill yesterday afternoon. Less than 2000 men and other leaders gathered under the broiling sun on the hill, while several speakers grumbled in broken English for failing to stand by the twenty-seven arrested Wobblies in Aberdeen and San Francisco, reporting that sympathetic strikes are being organized there among marine workers.

STRIKE IS FAILURE

There was no semblance of a strike on the waterfront, all work going forward smoothly on what was intended to have been the second day of a five-day general strike of marine workers of the I.W.W. Three thousand longshoremen were at work on the wharves and more than sixty ships in port, with a surplus of $20,000 awaiting jobs at the Marine Service Bureau.

Welsh testified that he had forgotten that he was married to Oesterreich when he married Wilburga Oesterreich.

Welsh's wife, Wilburga Oesterreich, defended him.

Seven Thousand to Assist in Staging "The Wayfarer," Local Pastors Announce Sunday Themes

Rivaling in magnificence of costuming and scale of production any dramatic offering ever staged in Los Angeles, "The Wayfarer," America's passion pageant will be presented in Los Angeles from September 9 to 15 at the Coliseum, Exposition Park. Seven thousand Los Angeles people will appear in the cast for the production and a huge stage ninety feet in height and 150 feet in width will be built for the pageant's presentation.

The production will be under the management of a group of prominent Los Angeles men, and proceeds will be devoted to the Community Development Association, which built the Coliseum, and to the University of Southern California.

WOMAN AS WISDOM

"The Wayfarer," of which Dr. J. G. Crowther of Philadelphia, is the author, opens with a prologue depicting "The Wayfarer" witnessing the World War and the suffering of the children. Wisdom, in the form of a beautiful woman, appears and leads the Wayfarer through a series of five episodes, beginning with the Babylonian Captivity and the birth of Christ and ending with Christ's resurrection. The pageant ends with an epilogue with an address that moral victory is after all the real aftermath of seeming defeat.

Those wishing to register for the pageant have been invited to apply at "The Wayfarer" office, care of Mrs. Armitage, 711 South Hill street. Rehearsals began Monday evening in the Philharmonic Auditorium.

LEE'S HANDICAP

This meeting between Lee and the Angel child sounds like a chapter out of the Rollo books instead of a clash of mastodons. If some folks knew the prodigious way in which the babies would grow they would start them off with more sonorous names.

A DOUBLE-HEADER

In an English prize fight both contestants landed a knock-out blow at the same moment and both went down for the full count. The decision was finally awarded to the scrapper who was first able to climb to his feet, which would seem to be about as close as Solomon could come under the circumstances. A double knock-out at the same instant does not often get into the record.

THE EAST MARKS

German marks were going at the rate of 236,000 to the dollar. Then Premier Baldwin made a speech to the British Parliament and marks rose until only 170,000 could be had for a dollar. That is why they say that money talks. Another speech might bring the mark to where only 160,000 could be had for a dollar and then the Germans would begin saying them once more.

WORLD AFFAIRS

The National Education Association hopes to relieve the world of all its illiteracy by 1935. It begins in the usual way—by passing a resolution. That is the way we start all our crusades. We open up with a set of ringing resolutions—and frequently wind up in the same vicious way. But if America is to carry knowledge into all the corners of the earth it will be necessary for us to take a larger part in world affairs. The least we could do would be to tie up with the League of Nations.

THE TIMES CHANGE

Secretary Davis of the Department of Labor came to this country forty years ago as a steerage passenger in a third-rate boat. When he sailed for Europe the other day on an official visit in connection with immigration problems he was assigned to the imperial suite on the Leviathan, the greatest steamship ever built. These were the quarters created for the Kaiser when the vessel was originally planned. Having been a very humble immigrant himself, Secretary Davis may be able to view our alien citizenship entanglements from both sides.

MAY STOP STRIKES

The injunction restraining the railway unions from any further strike activity is being enforced. The temporary injunction was granted on the petition of Atty-Gen. Daugherty last fall at the time of the shipmen's strike. It is complete and sweeping in its scope and would even prevent the use of union funds in connection with strikes. It is almost certain to govern future controversies and should virtually make a railway strike impossible unless the strikers had every element of justice on their side.

WATCH THE BANK ROLL

In New York State the Attorney-General is trying to halt some of the feverish speculations of doubtful stocks. There is no blue-sky law exactly comparable to our own, but there is ample machinery for the punishment of frauds. It is evident that there has been a lot of peddling of wild-cat securities. In one case a team of adventurers sold stock to the extent of more than $500,000 without making an effort to do any other kind of business. The alleged company had less than $25,000 of assets and this was chiefly made up of office furniture. In California this Napoleonic plan of finance would hardly be possible. Nevertheless we have heard here who are catching the unwary in ways that seem legitimate. The foolish man and his money are likely to be parted, no matter what barriers the law may rear.

SCHOOL-DAY ARTISTS

It is possible to regulate or restrict the use of paint and powder during school hours. The Arkansas Supreme Court passed upon the point that was raised some time ago and the wise judges agree that any local Board of Education may make a rule which forbids pupils in their schools from indulgence in facial decoration during study hours. The jurisdiction of the teacher over the student is reasonably complete while school is in session. If the board takes the whim it can put the pupil in uniform or sentence him to a Turkish bath. If the student be a girl the trustees may forbid her spreading rouge over her face or plucking her eyebrows on the school premises. What she does at home they may not decide, but if she turns up at school with her cheeks tinted like a sawmill fire, or if she carries her private drug store into her algebra class, she can be spanked, suspended or sent home. The art of make-up is not recognized as a part of the school curriculum and the teacher or the trustees may forbid the wasting of time in its indulgence. Whether the Supreme Court of the United States will sustain the position taken by the Arkansas justices is not made known. It is possible that the highest court would hold that a girl need not make up on school time.

RHUR VENTURE CONDEMNED

England will meet Germany half way in an attempt to reach a definite agreement over the vexed reparations question that, according to the British Prime Minister, threatens the ruin of Germany and with it "that of this country (England)." If France is not willing to act in harmony with England and Italy they will proceed without her. Premier Baldwin's statement in the House of Commons on Thursday was a characteristic diplomatic document, a mailed fist covered by a velvet glove. When he said, "We have informed those governments (France and Belgium) as also the Italian government that we are willing to assume the responsibility of preparing a draft ourselves," he was delivering an ultimatum. For the French government had already announced that it would brook no interference by any outside government; and it had been semi-officially intimated that such action on the part of Great Britain would be followed by the French occupation of Berlin.

Diplomatic utterances, especially those of a British government, are always guarded and are apt to be tedious reading. But, couched in friendly terms, there are always sentences which make their purpose clear. England's attitude toward the Ruhr occupation is stated in the following paragraph: "The situation cannot be left to right itself. . . . The indefinite occupation by one country of the territory of another in time of peace is a phenomenon, rare and regrettable itself, to which an honorable end should as soon as possible be found."

This is taken from the written statement, which was read at the same time by Premier Baldwin in the Commons and Lord Curzon in the upper chamber. It is the correct language of diplomacy. But, when the Prime Minister, according to one cable, said in response to a question from the leader of the opposition: "There is no justification for the French course. It would be difficult to justify it, even in time of war," the Premier was speaking as a business man discussing a transaction and not as a diplomat. It was as though he had pulled on the velvet gloves only to read the prepared statement.

In this incident there is an indication of weakness that may develop later in a form that will lead to the fall of the Baldwin government. For the Premier is schooled only in the language of business. He has given an evidence of lack of diplomatic finesse. The response is ungracious, to say the least. The friendly tone of the prepared statement is missing. There are precedents in the history of Europe when such language has caused the withdrawal of ambassadors, followed by a declaration of war. Balfour, Asquith, even Lloyd George would have been more guarded.

But such a result is beyond the range of probability under present conditions. There has been a vast amount of interperate language lately in the British House of Commons; and the French will probably dismiss it as a blunder, the effect of the embarrassment of the first appearance as Premier in a crisis.

The French will be more concerned over what the Premier did not say. There was no mention of the German "passive resistance," not one word of condemnation of the Ruhr, no intimation that Germany was intentionally avoiding reparations payments. In the French press comments one hears the old refrain, "Perfidious Albion."

But the first gesture of the French government was one of conciliation. On Friday morning French troops occupied two additional German towns, evidently following orders received before the British Premier had spoken. On Friday afternoon the troops were withdrawn, on order received direct from Paris, where the Cabinet was in session. It is an indication that the French government is not inclined to regard the British action in the light of an ultimatum.

According to the cables, public opinion in Europe is sensitive with alarm. If France refuses to take part in an international conference and continues her occupation of the Ruhr—what then? The situation resembles somewhat the tension of the days of July, 1914. And it is well to remember that, while the storm was seething in diplomatic circles that broke as a World War, it was carefully concealed from the public gaze. War was decided upon in the chancelleries, while it was never dreamed of by the world at large.

The present generation knows of its own experience what war means; and perhaps that will be the deciding factor in the present crisis.

DOLLAR WHEAT

Wheat has fallen below the dollar quotation mark on the Chicago Board of Trade and, in the opinion of those wise to the markets, there appears to be small chance for wheat to exceed the dollar price during the present season.

A serious situation presents itself to the farmers of the great wheat districts in this collapse of prices on the Chicago Exchange. A serious, indeed, the Secretary Wallace is holding a conference with experts to canvass the situation in all its aspects.

Many farmers claim that, through increased wages for farm help and the advanced prices the farmer now pays for everything he has to buy, wheat that brings 90 cents a bushel on the farm has cost the farmer $1.30 a bushel to raise.

Through this slump in price in parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas the farmers are hard up—a farm without a mortgage is rare—some are five years behind on their interest—a large proportion of them can no longer make ends meet. Discontent and demands for radical relief measures are the inevitable consequences of this latest depression.

It is evident, of course, that no producer will continue to grow wheat that costs him 40 cents a bushel on the wrong side of the ledger. And if the American farmer were to cease growing wheat the people in the cities would be spending for bread the sums they are now able to lavish on pleasure and amusements. City dwellers have as personal an interest in the wheat market as the farmer—it is their problem as well as his; they come eventually under its influence only the impact is not so sudden or direct.

Dollar wheat is an old rallying cry for agricultural America. At the beginning of the century it was a star to which the farmer, straining upward, hardly hoped some day to hitch his harvesters and reapers. In those days dollar wheat meant prosperity and plenty, a financial reward for the toil and labor spent on Middle-West acres and a final home for the lucky possessor among the warm-scented treasuries, the flowers and

THE NEW TURKEY

With the breaking of the bonds of supervision and partial control which Europe formerly exercised over the Ottoman Empire, England now finds herself faced with a serious situation. The new Turkey, under the Angora government, has successfully emerged from her former helpless position and quietly defies the European powers. As a result, other Mohammedan countries and dominions are seeking to emulate her, and revolutionary nationalism runs riot in those lands beneath the Prophet's banner.

It is not in Egypt and India alone that the British find themselves menaced by a resurgence of intense national feeling among the natives. The choicest of England's acquisitions since the war have been Mohammedan lands. Persia, once the especial prerogative of the Russians for exploitation, is now under British control after a brief soviet interlude. Iran, Palestine, Arabia, Transcaucasia and a portion of Transcaucasia also bow unwillingly to her authority. But the sleeping Arabs and other tribes, fired by Turkey's example, have aroused themselves from their centuries-old lethargy and are fiercely proclaiming the right of all peoples to be ruled by their own nationalities.

Commenting on this situation, a writer in the Contemporary Review of London states that "The Turks, Egyptians, Afghans and Indians that one meets at Angora have a way of smiling and professing ironical gratitude to Mr. Lloyd George." According to them, he kicked Turkey until even that worm turned and the revival of her nationalistic spirit spread throughout the Near East, with the result that British ascendancy there is menaced. According to the writer, the time for conciliation is now passed and the psychological moment gone. "It is no longer conceivable that the oriental peoples will consent to work out their destinies within the framework of the British Empire." Increased watchfulness will be necessary if England is to retain control of the prizes that have come her way in the Near East.

Had conditions in Europe been normal today our grain farmers would have had a foreign market for their surplus wheat, which, being thrust back on the home market, depresses it for the time to a figure that looks bad to the grower of bumper crops.

Yet isolationists and radicals and bittersanders have been telling the farmers that what happens in Europe is of no concern to them and that only the "international" bankers are interested in world courts of justice or schemes to bring peace to that essential part of the trade and commerce of the civilized world.

HYPNOTIC SONG

The theme of Du Maurier's "Tribby" has long been scoffed at by scientists and serious thinkers. It made an interesting foundation in reality. Now comes Dr. Harold N. Meyer, one of the leading alienists in America, and announces that, as a result of experiments made in Chicago, he has proved conclusively that a singer under hypnosis can interpret roles that would be quite beyond her ability in a normal state.

Miss Hazel Eden was the subject of the experiment. Unlike Tribby, she was gifted with a natural voice, being dramatic soprano with the Chicago Civic Opera Company. Under hypnotic suggestion, however, she was able to sing successfully the "Bell Song" from "Lakme," "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto" and the "Mad Scene" from "Lucia." These are all severe tests of the ability of a coloratura soprano and quite beyond the range of Miss Eden's voice. She even took an E flat, which she had never been able to sing before.

According to Dr. Meyer, under the influence of hypnosis, the subject was able to relax and concentrate more successfully. The inhibition that she had in her conscious state that she could not achieve a high note was removed and she was able to sing it with ease. Whether or not a person with no voice could sing under hypnotic suggestion the doctor could not say, but will make experiments in the future.

BREAKING CHINA

China being unable to get together as a whole, it is urged that it face the world as a federation of three states—with the capitals at Peking, Canton and Hangchow. There is a form of government in each of these cities now. If these governments can remain independent of one another and still exist broken China might indicate more progress than the whole.

HOW IT STARTED

Cloaked Stockings. If fashions could speak what strange stories some of them would have to tell. Many a detail of dress that would seem to have unostentatiously "just happened" has concealed in its history some definite reason for its existence.

The popular fashion of cloaked hose today has no object but ornamentation. There was a time, however, when it was also highly useful. For hose used to be knitted in two pieces which were sewed together and embroidered was stitched on the sides to conceal the seam. When this was no longer necessary the embroidery survived as a fashion note on the outer side.

Miss Rachel Crowthers says the modern girl is the world's most perfect type. She adds two declarations that the girls of today are 25 per cent more honest and decent than their mothers were. The view point of the lady is no doubt due to the fact that she writes for the stage. What consoles us when we contemplate the so-called modern girl is that in time she will get over it.

Another man accused of having had a part in the Wall Street explosion in 1929 has been discharged from custody. One of the most amazing things about that tragedy is the fact that, even with the passage of years, its perpetrators have not been betrayed their guilty secrets in a way that would provide evidence against them.

Some talk of an Irish loan among the money centers. Though recent the stream of war from any net, which seemed to frighten the pursuer so that it disappeared and was seen no more. The victim floated upside down for a while, turned about feebly now and then and finally came with head to the surface, where it lay gasping for some moments, after which it revived sufficiently to swim away and disappear.

THIS IS THE DAY

The first international industrial exposition or "world's fair" on American soil was opened in Crystal Palace, New York, in the year 1853. The site of it is now called Bryant Park, at Sixth Avenue and Forty-second Street. President Franklin Pierce formally opened the exposition.

RIPLING RHYMES

DOING HIS BIT

Hugh Hewgas halsomined his pump, with colors brave and fine; I met him by the village dump at quarter nine and said, "This town will never slump, with me like you in line! If every delegate in town would brighten things that way and paint his shack a brindled brown, his fence a dappled gray, our grad would gain a fair renown that never would decay. I've seen the pumps of sceptered kings and pumps along the Nile; I've seen a patent pump that fings soft water half a mile; but never have I seen, by Jingo, a pump with so much style!" Hugh Hewgas proudly reared his head and gave a loud hurroo; "Such fine encouragement," he said, "makes me as good as new, and now I'll paint my cowshed red and dye my dachshund blue." Our Punktown has a growing fame that round the world will reach; we always boost a neighbor's game and tell him he's a peach; he holds it in a burning shame discouragement to preach. If Johnnie decorates his shack or buys a new tin car or builds a fine alfalfa stack or paints his roof with tar we roundly pat him on the back and hand him a cigar. When all the people of a grad are free with words of praise, when they extend the hand that's glad to all aspiring jays that burg will drive its rivals mad by its progressive ways. WALT MASON.

PEN POINTS

It is now possible to get 1000 marks for a cent. They are advancing in price.

Miss Margery Bush of Potluma has grown a sunflower fifteen feet tall. Yet Kansas is called "Sunflower State."

We have often thought that it would be tough if a doctor diagnosed our ailment as one disease and we should die of another.

The largest oil tank in the world is nearing completion at Wilmington, Cal. A concrete basin, eight feet above and eight feet below the surface, covering twenty acres, it will hold 1,750,000 barrels.

The bootleggers will no doubt begin to kick themselves when they find out that they have been paying fines on local liquor cases that in nine cases out of ten would never have been tried. It was not so much of a bargain, after all.

German wigmakers are said to be spinning lifelines to pass out of glass which defy detection. If genius keeps on camouflaging our shortcomings we'll have Venus and Apollo completely outclassed, but it means good-by to bathing on the beach.

No patriotic occasion is complete without the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner." It is a national anthem that makes one's heart swell with pride. But how more effective it would be if we all knew the words and were not compelled to say "umpty-umpty," etc., while carrying the tune?

With President Harding in the West and Secretary Mellon in Europe the rum-sharping quarrel will be compelled to mark time until a more convenient season. Meanwhile our foreign nation is going to quarrel with the United States over rum—just now. There are more important fish to fry, as the saying is.

Another man accused of having had a part in the Wall Street explosion in 1929 has been discharged from custody. One of the most amazing things about that tragedy is the fact that, even with the passage of years, its perpetrators have not been betrayed their guilty secrets in a way that would provide evidence against them.

The first international industrial exposition or "world's fair" on American soil was opened in Crystal Palace, New York, in the year 1853. The site of it is now called Bryant Park, at Sixth Avenue and Forty-second Street. President Franklin Pierce formally opened the exposition.

BY RANDOLPH LEIGH

Sir Arthur Wallwater:
 See History Through;
 A Word from Bakshi.

At last it has come—"The Outline of Everything!"

Wells led off with his "Outline of History" and, apparently, Sir Arthur J. Wallwater, as the author of "The Outline of Everything" styles himself, had put an end to such get-facts-quick literature by the withering satire which he directs against it.

Sir Arthur, feeling the importance of a publication as broad as his, called to his assistance another adept at mental mergers, Prof. Hector S. Toogood.

In his preface Sir Arthur admits that he knows everything, but gravely adds that he is indebted to Prof. Toogood for supplementing his universal knowledge in various details.

He admits that the book lacks style, but feels that it will not lack purchasers for that reason, because "those who are foolish enough to think that they can get all knowledge in an afternoon's reading will not be alert enough to realize whether the book is well written or not."

He gravely apologizes for devoting two and a half pages to the development of science. By all the precedents in such types of writings, he says, a page or a page and a half at most would have been sufficient. However, he had had a bias that way from childhood and could not avoid the temptation to overplay that theme a little bit.

Alexander Bakshi has returned to his old task of freeing the theater from overemphasis upon realism.

The decline in interest in the theater is, he thinks, due to the failure of actors and dramatists to boldly proceed upon the basis that they are masters in make-believe and not mere tricksters who are to conjure up preposterously unreal realities for audiences.

"The theater," he says in his recent book, "The Theater Unbound," "must be a theater of the imagination, a conjuring shop, but simply a theater, where one can watch a pure, vigorous and vital dramatic show. In other words, it must be a presentation of life determined by

A SKILLFUL SHARK

BY W. E. ALLEN,
 California Biological Feature
 Service

I have never seen but one shark or shark and it was only visible for a few seconds, but in that brief time it gave an exhibition which was both interesting and extremely rare.

The creature is especially notable because it has a tall upper part, of which is prolonged into a strap-like affair of about the same length as the remainder of the animal. Such a curious appendage has caused a good deal of guessing as to its possible usefulness. Some observers seem to have thought that it was valuable to the animal for frightening other fish into a compact mass where they might be easily captured.

Others have declared that the tail is used for beating a whale into insensibility or submission for the larger sharks which feed on the remainder of the animal. Fishermen who have tried to capture thresher sharks have been more impressed with the use of the tail as a means of defense or escape. In fact the animal has undoubtedly received one of its common names because of the way that it thrashes about when men try to capture it. Certainly such a tail helps to give speed in swimming, almost dead as it is.

The specimen which I saw was only six or seven feet long, and in the little time that I could see the body it reminded me strongly of our ordinary soup-fish shark, except for differences due to such a long tail.

My first view was of the tail only. I was taking my daily collection at the end of the Scripps Institution pier when I heard a splash and saw disturbance in the water about fifty yards away. A moment later a slick, shiny, strap-like object was flung above the surface and waved violently for an instant. I had never seen anything like it and the performance was most uncanny.

A moment later the object was again waved in the air. Then all became quiet and I went on with my work, wondering what the thing could have been.

About twenty minutes later, while straining some water through a net of fine silk, I saw about fifty feet from the pier a small fish (about ten inches long, possibly a California smelt) swimming frantically just beneath the surface. Close behind came with incredible speed what appeared to be a soup-fish shark, but which was soon distinguishable as a thresher shark. It darted along until about half-way past its victim, when it made a sudden turn of the head down and snapped at the smelt and gave a whiplike stroke which had been made the water boil about the little fish.

Apparently the fugitive was slightly injured, but it may have been only confused or dazed. Before I had time to judge as to that another stroke had been made which was clearly injurious, since the victim stopped swimming and turned aimlessly about in the water.

By that time the fish was almost under the stream of water from my net, which seemed to frighten the pursuer so that it disappeared and was seen no more. The victim floated upside down for a while, turned about feebly now and then and finally came with head to the surface, where it lay gasping for some moments, after which it revived sufficiently to swim away and disappear.

STATE IS RICH
IN OIL SHALESExpert Says Undeveloped
Fuel Source is EnormousFormer Government Official
Tells of ResearchDeclares Liquid Gold Supply in Ground Eclipsed

While the oil fields of California today are regarded as among its most valuable resources, their possibilities are surpassed by the oil shale found in different sections within the boundaries of this State, according to Dr. David Talbot Day, former chief of the division of mineral resources of the United States Geological Survey. Dr. Day, who arrived here yesterday from his home in Washington and is stopping at the Van Nuys, is making an inspection of certain parts of the oil shale fields now in process of development. He is no longer actively connected with the Geological Survey, having retired to devote himself to the commercial side of the oil business, though he is still subject to call by the government in cases where his services as an expert in the petroleum field may be in demand.

"A considerable portion of California's oil shales are as yet undeveloped, owing to their inaccessibility and the fact that they have thus far been but imperfectly explored," said the doctor. "In time, however, all these fields will be developed, and their yield of wealth will be greater than that of the oil fields."

"At the present time there are only three places in the State where shales are being developed. The richest field is that near Camala, in Santa Barbara county, where the shales in some places run from 2000 to 3000 feet in thickness. The other two places are at McKittrick in the San Joaquin Valley and near Lake Elsinore.

"The rock of Camala is exceedingly rich in oil of a superior quality, containing up to ninety gallons of oil per ton of shale material. Of course, the full amount of the oil content cannot as yet be extracted, because the processes for doing this work have not been perfected. About the best that can be produced with the means at hand is from forty to fifty gallons a ton, but I am confident that methods will eventually be devised that will extract practically all the oil."

"My attention was first called to the shales near Debeque, Colo., in 1905, while I was connected with the Geological Survey. A man in that locality had built a furnace, the chimney of which had been constructed of a peculiar kind of rock found in great abundance in that vicinity. The first time he built a fire in his stove, he was flabbergasted to see his chimney take fire and burn to the ground, together with the building of which it formed a part."

SPECIMEN RECEIVED
This man sent a specimen of the rock to the Geological Department, with an account of what had happened and a request for information in regard to the phenomenon. I analyzed the rock and found it to be oil shale, with which I was familiar from having studied the oil shales of Scotland."

"An investigation was then made by the department and it was found that vast quantities of these oil shales were scattered over a large part of Western Colorado. In fact, so great were these deposits that it was computed their total oil content would be equal to four times the entire amount of oil represented by all the oil fields in the United States. Later similar shales were found in Utah in an amount about equal to that of Colorado, which means, therefore, that the oil shales of Utah and Colorado alone are capable of producing an amount of oil eight times that of all the country's oil fields."

PUBLISHED IN BULLETINS
The findings of the Geological Department in Colorado and Utah were published in official government bulletins, and this information created a sensation over the entire country. But the oil shales in the regions where the shales had been found. An army of geologists and engineers flocked to the new El Dorado and in time it was found that the oil shales of the oil shale territory and also over much ground entirely innocent of the oil-bearing rock. Speculation ran rampant and made millions and lost countless paper fortunes in oil shales during the first period of excitement."

"The government selected two sections of the shale fields, one in Utah and the other in Colorado, to be held in reserve for the use of the Navy," said Dr. Day. "Then the geological department decided to leave this field to the frenzied speculators, and to go about making further investigation of oil shale deposits. We had our eyes on the Pacific Coast and we explored the entire Coast district from Washington to Southern California. I personally examined more than 200 specimens of rock from various parts of the Coast. Much of the territory yielded us nothing, but we found excellent deposits of the shale in California."

LITTLE DONE TO DATE

Up to this time, but little has been done in the way of production in the oil shale fields, according to Dr. Day. "The boom in Colorado and Utah has practically died down and but little has been accomplished there in a practical way," he said. "Promoters are at work both in the Middle West and in California, however. It would be futile to start production from shale with the vast amount of oil now being produced from wells. But eventually the supply from the wells will lessen while the demand for oil continually increases. Then the vast store of oil in the shale will be utilized."

In comparing the shales found in California with those of Colorado and Utah, the doctor pointed out that there is considerable difference in the two varieties of rock. "The California shales are composed of very fine sand so saturated with oil that if a fragment of rock be treated with chloroform, the oil will drip from it. The California shale is richer in oil," he said.

SIGNAL HILL WELL STILL ON RAMPAGE

Fourth Day Brings No Let-up in Activities of Outlaw Gasser

Unless the Union Oil Company Community No. 11 well, the outlaw gasser on Signal Hill, is controlled within the next three days, an elaborate system of dykes and dams, thrown up by the city of Long Beach to prevent further inundation of the Pacific Electric right of way and residential property, will be unable to hold back the huge volume of salt water and mud that continue to rush down the hillside from the well.

The well yesterday was in the midst of its fourth day of behaving like volcano on a rampage. Three more days uncontrolled and a large residential part of Northeast Long Beach will be covered with mud silt and salt water, police say.

The gigantic gasser has been flowing uninterrupted for almost eighty hours, and so far there seems to be no way to shut off the great tide of 100,000 barrels of mud and water which daily is streaming down the hillside. Union Oil officials yesterday stated that the steel derrick above the well, which has withstood the terrific blast, will be torn down at once in order to enable the crew of men at work to better combat the flow. Guy wires will be loosened and the derrick toppled to the ground.

Every available man of the Union Oil Company is now at work trying to devise a plan to control the well.

Average boomers have from two to two and one-half feet spread.

GRAUMAN WILL

for the erection and operation of Grauman houses in Long Beach, Pasadena and San Diego.

ONLY PERSONAL INTERESTS
"Preliminary papers for the transfer were signed while I was in New York on my last trip," said Mr. Grauman last evening in discussing the transaction.

"The sale involves only my personal interest in the properties which represents 50 per cent of the property as it stands today. The balance of the property belongs to Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky, with whom I have always had, and expect to continue to have, the most cordial relations."

"As a result of the sale I shall at once proceed with the construction of a theater in Hollywood that I believe will be a marvel, not because I shall build it, but because the ground upon which it is to be built is so located and is of such a size as to permit the incorporation of many ideas which have heretofore been impossible in downtown locations."

"The second of the two may houses which I plan to erect in Hollywood, will be what may be called a combination-house, that is it will be a combination of legitimate and photoplay. It too will be in innovation and between the three I shall then have in Hollywood, I believe that Los Angeles will have the greatest possibilities for photodramatic presentation in the world. Both of the new theaters will be of a radically different type of architecture and each will be different from the Egyptian Theater which we are now operating there."

TWO SHOWS DAILY
"The Egyptian and the new house, a name for which has not yet been selected, will be devoted entirely to the presentation of but two performances daily, both at stated times and with all seats reserved each with its proper atmospheric prologue."

"The transaction will in no way alter the plans for the completion of the Broadway entrance to the Metropolitan Theater, although the cost of this, estimated at $148,000, will be assumed by the new owners."

The Broadway lobby, three stories in height, will be finished by the new owners and according to the plans which were originally made and which incorporate the installation of an escalator so operated as to carry the patrons almost to the mezzanine level.

The Paramount people are now having the plans drawn for the erection of additional stories to the Metropolitan Building, which are to be devoted to office purposes. I understand the estimated cost of this additional construction is $1,500,000 and is to be undertaken in the near future."

"The deal will in no wise alter the exhibition of Paramount productions at any of the houses, nor the manner of presentation of the pictures or the incidental programs. This is all to be continued with a constant endeavor to attain higher production."

LONG-RUN PRODUCTIONS

"The new Hollywood house and the Egyptian will continue with long-run productions. It should be remembered that the Egyptian, while it has been running for ten months, now has only its second picture, 'The Covered Wagon.' The first one was 'Robin Hood.' In a tentative way the picture which is to open the new Hollywood house has already been chosen, but as yet I am not at liberty to announce it."

It is approximately five years since Sid Grauman came to Los Angeles with his father, D. J. Grauman, and constructed what is now known as Grauman's Million Dollar Theater at Third and Broadway, which at the time of its opening was the show place of all motion picture theaters of America. It still ranks among the finest in the country, although now eclipsed in magnificence by the Egyptian and by the latest of the Grauman string, the Metropolitan.

RAIL TO NEXT TRIUMPH

Soon after the Third-and-Broadway house was opened the Railto on South Broadway was constructed, considerably smaller in size and erected primarily for long-run production to which it has been constantly devoted during the two and a half years of its operation.

Later followed the Egyptian in Hollywood where the fixed policy of stated presentations, matinees and evening, with long runs, was put into operation. Last November the Metropolitan, the largest and most lavish of all, was opened, and in it Mr. Grauman incorporated the luxurious presentations which are declared to have made the house the biggest money maker in the form of net returns in the country.

The possibility of erecting Grauman houses in Long Beach, San Diego and Pasadena, Mr. Grauman said, has come about through the solicitation of those cities who desire for their communities motion-picture entertainment of the same caliber as is being shown in his Los Angeles houses.

is said to have attempted to call off the crew of a lumber steamer. Approximately fifty seamen left their posts on coastwise craft during the day, but their places were immediately filled from men on the waiting list of the Marine Service Bureau. The crew of the Associated Oil tanker, Alden Anderson, in port from Fall River (Mass.) deserted the craft during the morning, but a new force was recruited without trouble.

SHIPOWNERS PLEADED

Officials of the Shipowners' Association yesterday expressed their pleasure over the manner in which all local marine workers have remained at their posts in the present situation.

"The workmen at this port are fed up with the Wobblies and their Red programs," declared Capt. Walter J. Peterson, general manager of the Marine Service Bureau. "They had an opportunity yesterday to display their loyalty to this organization and we are pleased with the manner in which they have responded."

"Better wages are paid and better working conditions obtain in the Pacific Coast marine trades than anywhere else in the world," he continued. "We intend to make conditions for waterfront workers at Los Angeles Harbor still more desirable but it can't be done until this town shows us that it will clean out the Wobblies."

The increased force of police was still on duty at the port yesterday and will be maintained, according to Capt. Peterson, to keep the waterfront clear of all undesirable characters until after the five-day period has passed. No violence or demonstrations as a result of strike conditions are anticipated by the police, however.

hurried to the scene and police were compelled to hold the crowd back.

The home of Mrs. Iva Philimore, 1639 Stanton avenue, south of the Pratt and Warner plant, was destroyed by its contents. A house occupied by Mrs. Louisa Velasco and her daughter, Rebecca, went next. The flames spread to the home of Mrs. A. R. Zepeda, 2148 East Sixteenth street, and C. J. Datria, 1619 Stanton avenue. Pacific Electric traffic to Long Beach and other beach cities was tied up and red interurban cars extended for blocks beyond the fire lines.

FIRE RAGES ONE HOUR

The battle with the flames occupied more than an hour and it was some time later before the fire was completely extinguished.

"I believe the fire originated in the scenic plant," said Will P. Stevens. "My building was eleven and a half high. My loss will be about $50,000 as the building was 50 per cent insured. The scenic company's loss will be much greater. Both buildings were in active operation until closing time tonight. I had all my clothes in the building, which is one of my first regrets."

Toy manufacture is still one of the leading export industries of Germany and the country is the leader in the world in the production, but the United States is becoming a very serious competitor.

TRAFFIC BODY FAVORS PLANS

Thirty-five Projects of Civic Association Indorsed

Co-operation of Community Clubs is Urged

Survey Demanded to Cope With Parking Problem

Following an address by George Young of the Community Development Association of Los Angeles, the Traffic Commission yesterday put itself on record by the passage of three resolutions as favoring the thirty-five improvement projects as outlined by the Development Association for the relief and betterment of congested traffic conditions in the city.

In a talk at the Clark, Mr. Young said that the only way to arouse public sentiment and get real action on the new plans was first to get the active co-operation of all local civic organizations. In the first resolution passed yesterday the Traffic Commission indorsed the memorial of the Community Development Association to the City Council and urged that body immediately to order the city engineers to go ahead with a survey of the proposed projects to determine costs of such improvements. In the same resolution it was further resolved that the commission offer its services to the city along any lines that will prove helpful in bringing the plan submitted to a successful termination, including the publicity for the individual projects and the formation of co-operation with local improvement societies.

The second resolution reads as follows: That the board of directors instruct the executive committee to co-operate with the City Planning Commission, Community Development Association and Automobile Club to revise the booklet of the Los Angeles plan of major highways to conform with the recommendations of the Community Development Association's selection of thirty-five projects, in order that the necessity and wisdom of this survey be given needed publicity.

A third resolution was directed to the City Council and recommended that this body consider an attached plan for a thorough survey of the parking problem in the congested districts and also urged that body to embark upon a survey according to this plan, the survey to be held open at the Board of Public Utilities' engineer.

This plan as submitted urged the establishment of boundaries of the congested districts in the city and also the establishment of bus-new districts outside the congested districts. The congested district was defined in 1913 by the Railroad Commission engineers as bounded roughly by Temple, Los Angeles, Tenth and Olive streets. The plan also calls for a study of the traffic arteries in the above mentioned districts and also of those leading into those districts and the methods of making the survey and investigations.

NOTABLE SERVICES PLANNED

Episcopal Summer School Leaders Will Have Special Program Tomorrow

The annual summer school of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles, which is being conducted the 12th to 15th insts., at Harvard School, Sixteenth street and Western avenue, will have meetings of special interest on its program tomorrow. ## TESTIMONY IN KESLER WILL CASE BEGUN

First testimony was heard in the suit to break the will of the late George F. Kesler, in Judge Willis's court, yesterday. The principal plaintiff is James J. Kesler, brother, who contended that the deceased was of unsound mind, that once he was adjudged insane by Ohio courts and that he was unduly influenced by A. W. Rider of Oakland, with whom once he lived and to whom he left two-thirds of his property. One-third of the property was bequeathed to the Baptist Foreign Missionary Society under a will drawn December 10, 1912. Kesler died August 23, 1922.

Dr. Hopkins is the new pastor of the church, having come here from a very successful pastorate at the Manitou (Colo.) Community Church. He believes that the Community Church, uniting Christians of every name and creed and making the basis of its appeal the community rather than the denominational creed, is the solution of the great religious problem of the hour.

The Sunday-night service is to be devoted to the Bible class. There will be study of the acts of the Apostles each week and efforts to determine how far the Olivet Community Church can progress in its attempt to accord as closely as possible with the beginning of the early church.

COOK WILL FILE
Bequests an Estate of $250,000—Widow Gets $40,000
The will of William H. Cook, Whittier realtor, who died on the 11th inst., was filed for probate yesterday. It fixes the value of the estate at approximately $250,000, of which $40,000 is in real estate and the remainder in personal property. The widow, Ada E. Cook, is left the real estate and the remainder of the estate is bequeathed to relatives and children.

PUNSTERS HAVE JOYOUS DAY

They Forget Somebody Called It Lowest Form of Wit

Puns flew thick and fast in Justice of the Peace Scott's court yesterday afternoon, when P. Garrett White was held to answer to a charge of forging the name John C. Black to a $25 check on a local bank.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Jordan started the punning. "This particular White represented himself to be Black," he said. "Charles W. Ostrum, White's attorney," retorted, "This White is White, not Black, and has never represented himself to be anything but White."

Justice Scott had the last word. "Well, inasmuch as we have the evidence in black and white, we will hold this man to answer."

BROADWAY EXTENSION SIMPLIFIED

Council Eliminates Plan to Cut Diagonal Street to Figueroa

The City Council, on recommendation of the City Engineer, yesterday eliminated that part of the Broadway extension plan which would cause a diagonal street to be cut from Santa Barbara avenue and Broadway to Figueroa street.

This plan has led to many protests from the property owners. The City Engineer's communication, which the Council adopted unanimously, reads as follows: "I am returning herewith the communication from the Broadway Improvement Association, et al., asking for the opening and extending of Broadway from Pico street to Moneta avenue. This communication also asks for the extension of the street, nine feet wide, from Santa Barbara avenue and Broadway in a diagonal direction to intersect Figueroa street at or near Forty-third street (now Forty-first Place.) This latter connection would cut property in a manner which would be extremely expensive and unnecessary."

Dr. John A. Earl will deliver a sermon on "Furture on Earth." Dr. Burner S. Hudson, associate pastor, will answer the questions, "Does Success Destroy Happiness?" "What Is Success?" "What Is Happiness?"

IMMANUEL BAPTIST

The National City Bank of Los Angeles

Opens Today at 9:45 a. m.

At that time a new outpost will be established in the progressive march of both the commercial and civic life of Los Angeles.

THE doors of the temporary banking room of the new National City Bank of Los Angeles at 734 S. Spring street will be opened on July 14th at 9:45 A. M. and will remain open on that day until 9 P. M. The opening of this bank will be a striking point in time from which many lesser occurrences will be dated.

The opening of a national bank is an extraordinary occasion. Only once in the last nine years has a national financial institution been opened in Los Angeles. The opening of this bank's doors is an event of tremendous importance to the public, for it means that your national government has sent representatives here to examine this district and determine whether or not it needed the impulse which a strong, well-managed, independent and widely owned National bank could give it and the issuing of its charter is evidence that such a need is here.

With this in mind it is not unreasonable to believe that the opening of the National City Bank is so influential a factor in the further development of individual and community wealth that it has the importance of being an epoch-making event in this section's commercial history.

To All Business and Commercial Interests—We will not only provide this city with convenient banking facilities, but an association with this institution will offer a great variety of advantages ranging from the saving of precious minutes from the business day to those invaluable benefits which are the fruits of co-operation between a strong national financial institution and forward-thinking individuals and business firms in each of whose consciousness is a broad-minded conception of mutual helpfulness.

We can but touch briefly upon the subject of banking service as it will be exemplified by this bank, but it is a fact that a modern, progressive institution, dominated by the conviction of its responsibility to its clients, can well provide the center from which must radiate innumerable lines of influence helpful to every individual within its scope. You are neglecting your own interests if you fail to form a connection with such an institution.

The opening of this new National Bank in Los Angeles gives you an unusual opportunity to establish such an affiliation. Why not avail yourself of it? The sincerity of our desire to serve you will be very apparent when you enter the portals of our bank, and our pledge of service is made as you receive your SPECIAL SILVER SOUVENIR PENCIL which we have provided for each person who opens an account with us on our Opening Day.

We repeat, "A new outpost will be established in the progressive march of the commercial life of Los Angeles next Saturday," and a broad individual co-operation to the end of making the event an historic success will yield honor and interest to participants.

Fifty Quarts of Community Wealth Gone

The community wealth of Gale G. Hamilton and his wife, Grace G. Hamilton, consists of fifty-one missing quarts of Brooklyn whiskey. It was disclosed today in Judge Summerfield's division of Superior Court. The couple appeared in court on a petition of the wife for temporary alimony. During questioning of husband and wife it was brought out that the couple's community property, except for furniture, consisted of the whiskey. But the liquor has disappeared, the husband stated, and he demanded that his wife be forced to account for it. She was unable to do so and the court ordered the husband to pay her $25 a week alimony. He also ordered both man and wife not to molest one another.

Fifty Quarts of Community Wealth Gone
The community wealth of Gale G. Hamilton and his wife, Grace G. Hamilton, consists of fifty-one missing quarts of Brooklyn whiskey. It was disclosed today in Judge Summerfield's division of Superior Court. The couple appeared in court on a petition of the wife for temporary alimony. During questioning of husband and wife it was brought out that the couple's community property, except for furniture, consisted of the whiskey. But the liquor has disappeared, the husband stated, and he demanded that his wife be forced to account for it. She was unable to do so and the court ordered the husband to pay her $25 a week alimony. He also ordered both man and wife not to molest one another.
